President's Message

By Pamela Wang

Last year we were all wrapped up in the election results and a faltering economy. I remember quoting our new president talking about the need for people to step up to the plate and volunteer in order to make their communities stronger and safer. Twelve months of an economic rollercoaster ride, lots of worrisome news and finally our country can almost see the light at the end of the tunnel.

Here in Kona, our little organization has notably had its lights on high beam, plugging away, shining through the Vog and the dismal economy. As the stock market fell, our sales did not falter. Our volunteers have led the way with great energy and dedication and they deserve a round of applause and mahalo nui loa for their time, effort, and innovative thinking! How is this scenario possible? Against all reason, we continue to receive huge donations of books. We get books from private donors, people leaving or cleaning house and library culls. We also have Kona Bay Books to thank for their tremendous support and deliveries of uncountable volumes. Most of the books are good and those that don't pass our strict standards find homes elsewhere. Our peerless Pit Crew who prepares for Lanai Sales and our inimitable inside traders who stock the Lobby Sale are the invisible back bone of our success. Though most prefer to remain nameless, suffice to say they are awesome. I may have to come up with my own presidential award to truly recognize them.

We let the silent auction slide this year and focused on doing more and better book sales. After months of trying sales in other venues, we came to the conclusion that we have the best lanai in town and we should use it. We have thus decided to do at least 10 sales a year, and we are planning for every second Saturday of the month, except when library closures dictate a change, such as our February 6th sale. So mark your calendars or put it in your iPhone or Blackberry to remind you closer to the date!

In a search for ways to raise money without using more volunteer hours, F.O.L.K. has partnered with SHAKLEE in a new venture called cause shopping for non profits. This will allow our members and library patrons, anyone at all in fact, to make a difference by simply changing which brand they buy. So can toothpaste and shampoo or vitamins help F.O.L.K.? The answer is YES. You can redirect your spending to benefit F.O.L.K. Go to our SHAKLEE website and see how: www.FOLK.myshaklee.com.

we also participated in sack and save's Give Aloha program, and we continue to receive dividends from money that patrons spend at MACY's through eScrip. If you are not signed up for this program, please see our website for instructions. Every penny counts! Speaking of Website, have you clicked on www.F.O.L.K.hawaii.com recently? What an amazing adventure we are taking into cyberspace. Everything you need to know about upcoming events is posted on our website. There are links so you can reach us quickly and electronically. In fact you already receive emails from our website and you can read this ORCHID on line as well! Imagine, you can forward a link to the ORCHID to your friends back in Kalamazoo and let them know what we are all up to here.

In an effort to position ourselves in the community, another exciting change this year was the board's decision to join the Kona Kohala Chamber of Commerce. This way, we plan to reach more businesses to let them know what we are doing, and create a new base of friends and supporters. We need to be a recognized part of the community and the public needs to know we are working for them to provide the best possible branch services. These services include new programs, new books, and even a new vacuum. See a list of our purchases in this edition. You can also read all about our new Literacy Program: Books are Building Blocks. See if this looks like something YOU would like to help us with.

This year has seen the "temporary closure" of the Holualoa Branch. I am sorry to report that no one can predict when it will be opened again. This has made F.O.L.K. refocus its efforts to support our remaining two branches: Kealakekua and Kailua Kona.

We have recently purchased a DVD cleaner for these two branches to use. CDs and DVDs are a source of income for each branch. When a disk is out of circulation due to dirt or scratches, we need to get them back in play as quickly as possible. Other news that may be of interest to patrons is that the Kealakekua Branch has a new librarian and a library tech who may be familiar to some. Stop in and meet Kipapa ...from the Waimea branch, and Moea...who used to work in Kailua Kona. They have transformed that branch into a fun and exciting place! Support their new lobby book sale. Share ideas with the librarian about what you would like to see happening at your library. Sadly, despite all our efforts, furloughs have been mandated. There will be many Wednesdays when the libraries will be closed. The librarians are scrambling to make sure that on the other days, the branches are open as much as possible. Kealakekua will likely change its schedule to stay open late on Mondays when Kailua is closed, and will probably be closed on Saturdays when Kailua is open. Tremendous generosity of patrons has raised a total of over $229,000 to support our state libraries. Meanwhile, F.O.L.K. will continue to be a driving force, championing the libraries and striving to continue to raise funds to meet those many needs and requests no longer being funded by the State of Hawaii. WE will continue to count on YOU, our members and the public to step forward and help us with your time and muscle. Statistics show that volunteering adds to your happiness/satisfaction quotient! I look forward to seeing you at the library soon!

Books Are Building Blocks

By Shani Dutton

F.O.L.K. has expanded on its mission this year with the enormous undertaking of sponsoring a family literacy program at the Kona Branch of the library. This program runs year round, with the exception of summer reading program months, and is on the first Tuesday of every month. The purpose of this program is to encourage families to enjoy reading together, build a bond with each other, and to improve their child's reading ability and comprehension. F.O.L.K. believes that the ability to read allows a child to succeed in school, learn about the world, function in society, and have good employment options when they grow to adulthood as well as learning to utilize their public library. F.O.L.K. has reached out to business in the community to sponsor and support this amazing program. We have received all types of wonderful donations ranging from monetary contributions to pizza and gift cards for our prizes. This program has reached all types of people and families in our community and continues to grow.

The first program was on September 1, 2009. With very little idea as to how many people would participate we were amazed to see 35 individuals. This number continues to grow with more families hearing about this program and participating. It has become apparent that our community wants and needs these types of "free" family programs. I look forward to continuing and creating more of these types of wonderful opportunities in the future with F.O.L.K.

Volunteerism and F.O.L.K. Projects

By Elizabeth Poire

While I have been a Lifetime member of F.O.L.K. for several years, 2009 was certainly my most active year. I'm at the Kailua Kona Library so often that if they had a bed and a shower, I'd probably be living there! In April, taking over the position of Secretary for the F.O.L.K. Board, provided an opportunity to see how F.O.L.K. helps the Kona libraries. I organized two fundraisers this summer for the Kona libraries. The first was through Panda Express, where on one day 20% of all purchases made using our flyer were donated to F.O.L.K. (Thank you to restaurant manager Cher Buenaventura!) The second was an opportunity offered by the Kona Kohala Chamber of Commerce. With a group of volunteers, we helped to set up and clean up the Building & Design Expo over the course of four days and earned $500 for F.O.L.K. (Thank you to Mike Robinson, Lisa Thomas, Lois Paciello, BethAnne & Ken Webb, Lee Lorenz, Bev Stehley, Edy & Gordon Poire, and KKCC's Vivian Landrum!) Assisting Kailua Kona children's librarian Denise Stromberg with the Summer Reading Program, and the "Ready to Read, Ready to Succeed" program for second grade students provided a lot of fun, especially watching the children look for their first library book and checking them out. I've lost track of how many times I heard Denise read The Squeaky Door - but it always makes me smile! The students arrived via "The Friendly Bus", which was funded through generous grants from Target and the Ford World Ironman Triathlon. F.O.L.K. offers a number of book sales to help raise funds for our libraries. The most notable is the Lanai Book Sale at the Kailua Kona Library.

Now that we have a steady supply of books available, the Lanai Book Sales will be held on the second Saturday of each month. Daily book sales can be found in the lobby of the Kailua Kona Library, and now the Kealakekua Library. Earlier this year, we held monthly book sales at Kona Coast Shopping Center. The book sales ended on October 31st, due to lack of storage space, but we thank Carol Moore and the people at Kona Coast for the opportunity. Speaking of books, this year F.O.L.K. donated a number of children's books to several local organizations. Over 300 new books were donated to Solid Rock Ministry's "Back to School" drive. Boxes of books were also given to Child Protective Services (Kona), Innovations Public Charter School, Ocean View Community Center, and Shriners Hospitals for Children (Honolulu). In September, with Ways and Means Co-Chair Lisa Thomas, work began on creating the "Books Are Building Blocks" program. This is a free family program held on the first Tuesday of each month at the Kailua Kona Library. The purpose is to engage both the child and the parent in reading together. The first night had about 35 people in attendance; four months later about 60 people participated! With Lisa Thomas leaving the island soon, Historian Co-Chair Shani Dutton and I will continue organizing this program in her place. Wow, that was one busy year! For 2010, if you are interested in volunteering to help with the lobby or lanai book sales at the Kailua Kona Library, please e-mail me at napua_poire2004@yahoo.com, or call my cell at 557-9009. Thank you for your time and have a Happy New Year.

Membership News

By Alice Goo

2009 has been an active year with as many new members coming aboard as those not renewing. This leaves our membership around 165 members, but we are looking for your support to encourage your friends to join and become members too.

As you are keenly aware, the State of Hawaii has a budget crunch and of course the schools and library system are the first to feel that cut. However, are you also aware that the purpose of F.O.L.K. is specifically to raise money to give to the West Hawaii libraries so in some small way to make up for that cut.

Your dues and donations help in this effort to buy books, equipment and whatever it takes to keep our libraries' doors open. F.O.L.K. is also proud to present community programs at the library with no cost to the public. Here is the membership application GIVE it to your friends and if you need more you will find them in the front foyer of the Kailua Kona library.

The Kona Library Book Club

By Barbara Sosna

The Book Club has had another very successful year, with our attendance, once again, reaching new highs. The participation of our readers is exciting with varied opinions and interesting stories that relate to our selections. A member facilitates the monthly discussion of the particular book that she/he has chosen.

Yes, we now have some wonderful men at our meetings!

Our selections include fiction, non-fiction, classics, mysteries, history, memoirs, science, etc. Our local author who will be our guest in March is Mia King from Waimea. She is a national best selling author and should prove highly motivating as she has had a very wide-ranging occupational life, including writing while raising small children.

We serve light refreshments at our meetings. Some of these often reflect the type of food served in the country covered in the book of the month.

Thanks to all of you who have attended our monthly sessions and have made these meetings so pleasant and memorable. I urge those of you, who have never attended, to join us.

Here is the list of books for 2010

Ways and Means Report

By Jim Monk

All the volunteers in the Ways and Means Team did a tremendous job in 2009. The Team is made up of several different groups, some of which work behind the scenes and others who are right on the lanai making book sales happen.

The Sorter Group processes literally tons of books - some of them not too clean -- to select those of the highest quality for the daily library lobby sales and the quarterly - now monthly! -lanai sales. We receive books that are discards from the libraries themselves, from donations by individuals and a whole lot of books from a local book store.

The Pricing Group comes in to set the prices on all books for the lobby and the special books at the lanai sales. These folks pick out especially good books for special prices and also for possible sale on eBay or Amazon. In 2009, F.O.L.K. took in almost $700 from this endeavor. In addition, we set up an off site book sales program at the Kona Coast Shopping Center which has generously given us an unrented store space. While this endeavor is now finished because the space has been rented, we took in over $2,100 from this effort.

The Lobby Sales Group made sure the lobby shelves were stocked and tidy so library patrons had lots of great book choices. The work of this group is almost daily so our shelves are neat and full. Our lobby sales bring in steady income to enable F.O.L.K. to support your libraries. In 2009, F.O.L.K. made a bit over $7,900 from our regular lobby sales.

tremendous effort with the help of lots of diverse volunteers to move the books out to the lanai, keep it all organized and orderly during the day, process all the sales and then move the remainder books back into our storage area at the end of the day. The lanai sales are a big money maker for F.O.L.K., bringing in just over $6,100 for the year. That's a lot of support for the libraries.

A great big Mahalo to all the people - our regular volunteers, plus the student volunteers who help out at the lanai sales, plus all the people who help now and then as they can - that are making these sales efforts so successful. Lisa Thomas was one of the special volunteers in Ways and Means (she was co-VP of Ways and Means for most of 2009) and has now moved off island. Thanks Lisa. F.O.L.K. succeeds only because of all the great volunteers.

Treasurer's Report

By Barbara Isley

I am happy to report that F.O.L.K. has been able to provide to the libraries this year an unprecedented $18,370. Most of this went to the Kailua Kona Branch. Our purchases of audio books CDs, DVDs and regular books alone were up 360% from 2008.

In addition to many smaller items we were able to provide the Kailua Kona Branch with new window shades for the reading room, computer monitors, and a vacuum cleaner. We had the trees trimmed, fixed the garage door and are now providing quarterly pest control. Also, we provided the libraries with $1,558 in discretionary funds for smaller purchases.

F.O.L.K. was also able to provide 3 times as much funding for our major ongoing programs, Ready to Ready/Friendly Bus, Back to School, and Family Literacy, as we did in 2008.

And the best news is that we were able to do all of this and still increase our net worth over 2008 by $950! This was without holding a Silent Auction, which was always a significant portion of our income in previous years. All of our other fund raising efforts exceeded 2008 and we had a significant increase in grants and donations. From 2003 thru 2008, grants and donations amounted to approximately $13,000. In 2009 alone we received over $7,000.

Almost half of this income was the result of grant requests and solicitations made by members of the Board of Directors. The Board of Directors wants to continue pursuit of any grant and donation opportunities for which we may be eligible. If any member has an idea or suggestion for sources it would be most welcomed.

All the figures quoted are as of November 30, 2009 and a complete report on the year will be given at the Annual Meeting.

Charity Trees at Mauna Lani

By Joyce Kimball

This year F.O.L.K. has put up an innovative tree at the Mauna Lani Charity Trees exhibition.

Taking inspiration from our Books Are Building Blocks Program, the tree is actually a series of alphabet blocks decorated with books and a Santa reading on the top block. Proceeds of the votes cast by the public for their favorite tree at $1 per vote are shared among participants and the top three vote getters receive prizes of $2000, $1000, and $500 donated by the Mauna Lani. We hope our Building Blocks Program will benefit from this exposure to the public and encourage you to go visit and vote for our tree. Special thanks to Laurie Wilson and Keith Kimball for their efforts in creating this project.

Program News

By Bev Stehley

2009 has been a fun and educational year for Kona Library programs...Feng Shui, Celtic music, Star Lab, financial planning, Japanese flower arranging, Hawaiian quilting, Smart Moves, Senior Services, Soil and Water Conservation, Vanilla Propagation, Kahaluu Bay Project, Dorothy Patent, and Kona Music Society. Plans for 2010 are already in the works. In January we will have a cowboy story teller from America's Wild West. In February expect a new financial planning seminar for unmarried couples presented by attorney, John Roth. In March we hope to have a presentation on how to find the dollars for your child's college tuition.

We are always looking for presenters or program ideas. Email your suggestions to Bev Stehley at Bevl@ridge.com. If there are previous programs you would like us to repeat, let us know that as well.

The Word from the Pit

By Marie Kober

'Twas the weeks before the book sale.....”
 In the library garage the 'Pit Crew' was busy and buzzing - as bees in a hive.
 Books were arriving by truckload and car,
 To be purged, sorted and stacked - near and far.
 Boxes from Costco, filled to the brim,
 For the lobby and lanai sale, and elsewhere.
 Treasures often hidden among books non-descript,
 To be sold as specials and even on-line.
 Though space and manpower is lacking and the temperature varies,
 The laughter resounds as the Pit Crew toils.
 Enough trying to sound poetic. The bottom line is that we get lots and lots of books.
 We need more people to assist on a regular basis and we do have fun!
 Currently there are books designated for F.O.L.K. by Kona Bay Books at a temporary off-site location. An option is to sort them there and have the sorted books delivered to the library (or bring them ourselves). In order to do this, we need more people! We don't have enough crew to work in two places or to sort on a daily basis. We have a permanent sorter crew of four, with the occasional seasonal addition. We welcome volunteers who don't mind a little hard, dirty, sometimes hot, but always interesting and fun work.
 Please help us if you can and enjoy the camaraderie of a great group.

Kailua Kona Library

By Irene Horvath, Kailua Kona Head Librarian

The Chinese saying goes, “You should live in interesting times.” We certainly have had our share of interesting times this past year, and the coming year looks as if it’s going to be just as interesting. If I had to pick one interesting thing, I would choose the Books as Building Blocks family literacy program that F.O.L.K. started in September. I would like to quote from an article in this week’s Time magazine, written by Barbara Bush, who hosted a showing of the movie “Precious.” She says children and young adults like Precious, are often “abused or neglected, and seldom read to or given homework help. Without the skills they need to lead a productive life, the chances are good they will continue the cycle of poverty and illiteracy. But if young people can read and write, they are less likely to drop out of school, turn to drugs and violence, get pregnant, or depend on welfare. If I were to give out a homework assignment, it would be this: go see the movie. You might be shocked when it’s over that it was Barbara Bush who asked you to do so. But go see it - then ask yourself how you can help.”

I want to thank every F.O.L.K. member for supporting the Kona libraries in whatever way they have done, and, I hope, will continue to do. Because this is one way you can help the “Preciouses” of our community - and there are many - to break the cycle of illiteracy and build a better future for themselves and their ohana.

HELP KEEP YOUR LIBRARIES OPEN CAMPAIGNS

As of December 4th, the KEEP YOUR LIBRARY OPEN (HSPLS) campaign had raised $129,290.

As of November 23rd, the KEEP THE DOORS OPEN (FOLH) campaign has raised $100,433.

Count Week

Every year, statewide, during the last full week in October, all patrons entering each Hawaii public library are counted. F.O.L.K. helps by recruiting and scheduling volunteers to count the number of people who enter the library throughout each day of Count Week. The library staff tabulates the number of reference and other questions asked; number of books and other items checked out; number of internet sessions and in house use of materials. These statistics are used to determine trends. More importantly, the data is used to pursue funding for our libraries. A Big Mahalo to Irene Pereira who has coordinated Count Week for the last two years.

The Friendly Bus

As part of our Ready to Read/Ready to Succeed Program, The Friendly Bus offers all public and private second grade classes the opportunity for a free bus ride to the Kailua Kona Library to get a library card, hear a story, and borrow a book. Funded with the assistance of donations from Target and The Ford World Ironman Triathlon, this program brought students this fall from Konawaena Elementary, Kealakehe Elementary, Kona Pacific Charter School, Kahakai Elementary, Innovations Public Charter School, Hualalai Academy, and Ho'okena Elementary.

Kealakekua News

By Kipapa Kahelahela, Acting Branch Manager

Thanks to F.O.L.K. for their support during the recent changes at the Kealakekua Public Library. We now have a wonderful, friendly and knowledgeable staff that looks forward to serving our valued patrons. We are in the process of extending our public service hours but are still waiting for final approval from the head office; a notice to F.O.L.K. will be issued once this is finalized. We plan to start an on-going, weekly story time program once our public service hours are extended! Kealakekua Public Library hosted a Christmas program by the Aloha Performing Arts Company on Saturday, December 19, 2009 for all ages. You can now browse our growing audio book collection at the library! A big thanks to F.O.L.K. for funding the purchase of a DVD/CD cleaning machine for Kona libraries. We look forward to seeing everyone in the library!

Looking for a Few Good Friends

Thanks to Jan Prokopovich for her service to the board in 2009. We are in need of a replacement for Jan as well as a volunteer coordinator and community outreach. If you have an interest in being more involved with F.O.L.K., its programs and our support of the libraries, please contact us. The libraries need friends more than ever.
